Leadership Skills Profile - Selection Report

Report for: Sam Sample
December 7, 2025

Introduction

This interpretive report helps the reader understand how specific aspects of Mr. Sample's personality, behavior, and style affect his anticipated leadership performance. Because of the candid descriptions used in this report, it should not be shown to Mr. Sample. This report is confidential and should not be placed in general personnel files or in other locations where unauthorized persons might access it.

The LSP report contains four major sections: (a) an executive summary featuring three summary scores, (b) a profile of the 42 leadership competencies sorted by score, (c) a set of profiles of the 42 leadership competencies sorted into broad managerial skill categories, and (d) a detailed analysis of Mr. Sample's predicted performance on each of the 42 competencies. For each leadership competency, the report contains a definition, a description of Mr. Sample's expected level of performance, and a set of statements describing the particular factors in his personality, interpersonal style, and method for organizing work that determine his level of performance on that leadership skill or competency.

All of the data and interpretations in this report are based on professionally supervised statistical studies of the personality and performance of executives and managers in a wide variety of organizations. There is substantial evidence supporting the general accuracy of this report. Nevertheless, it should be recognized that 100 percent accuracy is not attainable in predicting human behavior. Accordingly, some statements will be more applicable to the respondent than will others. Where multiple interpretations and explanations are present, all explanations are helpful, but some will be more important than others, depending on the individual's particular situation and the requirements of his position. Some of the comments may appear to be excessively negative, but it is important to remember that a manager is usually not called upon to engage in activities requiring every skill analyzed in this report and that each position will emphasize a different pattern of leadership skills.

Occasionally, some interpretations might appear to be in conflict with others for related skills. These apparent inconsistencies are usually due to the imprecision of language, or to nuances of meaning attached to related aspects of personality. Try to focus on the overall pattern of interpretations, rather than on single interpretations.

When reviewing an individual's strengths and weaknesses, they should be evaluated in terms of position requirements. It will be helpful to weigh each statement of expected performance in terms of how important it is to job performance, and to the organization. It is also recommended that you consider the information presented in this report within the context of other candidate data (i.e. structured interviews, aptitude testing, past performance etc.).
